

Department of Defense Long-term Cancer Survivor Plan

- What does long-term care look like for active-duty cancer survivors?
- What are the follow-on health ramifications as a result of treatment?
- How does PCS affect care and records?
- Is the DoD medical system setup for long-term post-treatment care?

Department of Defense Long-term Cancer Survivor Plan

- How do we transition from a reactive system to a proactive one?
- Enroll cancer survivors into a program to track and monitor medical developments.
- This program would serve as a bellybutton for medical care and remain constant throughout a service member's career.
- This program would also serve as a study to gauge long-term medical complications as a result of treatment.
- Provide comprehensive, holistic approach that proactively conducts total healthcare surveillance, to include mental health.
